1 DEFINITIONS

The definitions of certain terms used in this policy may be found in Appendix 1.

2 SCOPE

This policy applies to CDPQ and our subsidiaries, with the exception of Ivanhoe Cambridge and Otéra Capital, which have their own policy consistent with that of CDPQ. In CDPQ's international offices, this policy may be adjusted and supplemented by other local measures or frameworks, specific to certain jurisdictions where CDPQ operates, thereby contributing to the growth of diversity and inclusion within the organization.

3 PRINCIPLES

CDPQ is convinced that a culture of equity, diversity and inclusion is essential to achieving our business objectives and mission. It is central to the development of our people in a work environment that respects the dignity and identity of each individual. Diversity is expressed through a combination of viewpoints including gender, ethno-cultural backgrounds, experiences and generations.

In an inclusive environment, this richness provides access to a variety of viewpoints that fuel innovation, strengthen the quality of decisions and boost organizational performance and success.

This is true not only for CDPQ but for the companies in which we invest. Equity, diversity and inclusion create greater opportunity equality and contribute to the success of the communities in which the companies operate.

4 DEVELOPING A TALENTED WORKFORCE WITH DIVERSE PERSPECTIVES

4.1 Attracting and recruiting diversified talent

CDPQ recognizes the importance of attracting, recruiting and developing people with diverse profiles contributing different perspectives. This means:

- Promoting CDPQ's professions and maintaining our proactivity in attracting, recruiting and selecting diversified talent by giving everyone the opportunity to join the organization.
- Periodically analyzing CDPQ's workforce and identifying measurable representation objectives aimed at ensuring fair representation of diversity at all levels of the organization and measuring quantitative and qualitative progress.
- Periodically reviewing our recruitment and selection practices and tools to foster continuous improvement.

4.2 Ensuring contribution by all talents through an inclusive culture

An inclusive work environment that values respect, trust, listening and openness to differences contributes to a collective sense of belonging and pride in the organization. Therefore, it is important for CDPQ to:

- Educate and train teams regularly on unconscious bias and the behaviors, words and actions each member must demonstrate to foster equity and a culture of respect and inclusion.
- Ensure that we listen to people by implementing various mechanisms and means for staff to express their ideas on equity, diversity and inclusion.

- Maintain a network of equity, diversity and inclusion ambassadors to promote transparency and encourage the sharing of opinions, ideas and feedback.
- Anchor equity, diversity and inclusion in all our processes, tools and operating rules, including the integration, retention and advancement of all our talent.
- Support team leaders by providing them with the tools, training and support essential to creating, promoting and sustaining a culture of inclusion in their teams.

4.3 Nurturing and retaining talent

CDPQ ensures the development, advancement and retention of talent for all profiles and backgrounds in accordance with the principle of equity. Thus, CDPQ works to:

- Ensure the deployment of institutional equity, diversity and inclusion action plans, including an action plan for people with disabilities that ensures their full professional and social integration in the workplace.
- Encourage the development of skills and the surpassing of oneself from an advancement and retention standpoint.
- Periodically monitor indicators related to the retention of the various target groups and adjust the action plan when necessary.
- Communicate business practices and encourage conversations about professional development and career progression.
- Periodically review our talent management practices with the goal of improving processes and tools, encouraging career progression and ensuring retention.

4.4 Engaging dialogue with our portfolio companies

Diversity is a powerful growth lever for companies. It improves decision quality and fosters the capacity for innovation, creativity, commitment and performance, which is why CDPQ is active in:

- Encouraging transparency and measures that promote diversity and inclusion and allow for a variety of views to be incorporated into decision-making within portfolio companies and external managers, including through our shareholder voting policy and the establishment of representation targets on the boards of directors of the said companies.
- Promoting the advancement of women and minorities in business and finance through the various programs we support and our active participation in various networks in Québec, Canada and internationally.
- Investing in companies that are willing to commit to increasing the number of people from diverse backgrounds in their organization, for example through the creation of an investment fund.

- Convincing more companies to set representation targets, take tangible actions, and measure and disclose their progress on diversity and inclusion.

5 DISCRIMINATION PROHIBITED

CDPQ does not tolerate any form of discrimination, harassment, misconduct or violence based on grounds of discrimination prohibited by law, regarding our employees, officers, directors, interns, students and consultants, as well as any person benefiting from a contractual link with the organization, whether in regards to hiring, promotion, a project, or any other activity carried out in the workplace.

The grounds of discrimination prohibited by law include race, color, gender, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, sexual orientation, marital status, age, religion, political beliefs, language, ethnic or national origin, social condition, disability, and the use of any means to mitigate any such disability.
